

Paul Davis Candidate Statement

For almost thirty years I have devoted much of my professional career fighting for the principles of the AAUP. During that time I have served in many different capacities, including leadership roles in my chapter at Cincinnati State, the Ohio Conference, and my current service as the Vice-Chairperson of the CBC.

In order for the Association to continue its important function in the professional lives of our members, we must continue to examine the current needs of our members, and seek new chapters to organize. I believe the AAUP leadership must understand that its members are the driving force of our association, and we must position itself in these turbulent times to be the voice of college professors. I am proud to be a candidate for chairperson of the CBC, and am grateful for the opportunity to serve.
